Walk the Former Route of One of NJ's Early Railroads!

The South Branch Railroad reached the Village of Three Bridges in 1864. As a division of the Central Railroad of NJ after 1888, daily passenger service ran to Flemington. Abandoned in 1957, between Three Bridges and Flemington the line remains active as part of the Black River and Western RR. The abandoned portion reverted to nature but has now been reborn as a picturesque trail by Hunterdon County. The hike will be approximately 4 miles over level ground, suitable for the whole family. Dogs on leashes welcomed. PLEASE RSVP IF YOU PLAN TO JOIN US!
